To Whom It May Concern:

This is in regard to the proposed limits on occupancy of homeless shelters.

The discussed limit of 20-30 clients at a shelter seems too low. With the amount of homeless counted by the HHHC in February of 2009, this could require as many as 40 shelter sites should everybody need housing.

Limiting housing sites such as Serenity Inn which has 35 rooms to 20-30 clients does not fully utilize resources. I do not have a maximum occupancy in mind although I'm not in favor of "jamming" clients into proposed sites.

I do think each site should be evaluated independently to ensure we use them intelligently and safely. Thank you for your consideration.
